About the Artists

IVO DAE-SEONG SHIN DE SOUZA began flute studies with his aunt Regina Lima at the age of 13. Soon after, he entered the pre-college program at Rio Grande do Norte Federal University (UFRN) where he studied with Rodrigo Gouveia. At age 18 he began his undergraduate studies with Alexandre Johnson at UFRN. During this time he participated in the university's orchestras, performed in the Orfeo Concert Series, and attended master classes with Sergio Barrenechea, José Ananias, Jorge Salgado Correia, Julie Koidin, Toninho Carrasqueira and Philippe Bernold. Besides being an active performer, Ivo is strongly committed to teaching the flute. After finishing his undergraduate studies, Ivo was a substitute teacher at UFRN and taught flute for the National Program of Access to Technical Education and Employment (PRONATEC). He is now a first-year graduate student at the University of Arizona Fred Fox School of Music pursuing a Master of Music degree in flute performance under the instruction of Dr. Brian Luce.

MONSERRAT GARCÍA CAMPOS is a first-year graduate student at the University of Arizona Fred Fox School of Music pursuing a Master of Music degree in oboe performance under Dr. Sara Fraker's mentorship. Before coming to the University of Arizona, Monserrat was active as a teacher and performer in Mexico. She was principal oboe in Orquesta Sinfónica de Michoacán, professor at Conservatorio de las Rosas, and teacher at Orquesta Comunitaria Sistema Michoacano de Fomento Musical – an organization based on the Venezuelan El Sistema. In 2009 she joined the prestigious Orquesta Sinfónica Juvenil Carlos Chávez, where she played both oboe and English horn for two years, performing under renowned conductors in both the United States and Latin America. In 2013, thanks to her excellent academic standing as an undergraduate student at Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México, she was selected for an exchange program with the Landen Konservatorium, where she had the opportunity to finish her music studies in Klagenfurt, Austria. She has participated in numerous master classes and workshops from renowned teachers such as Hansjörg Schellenberger, Thomas Indermühle, and Michael Turnovsky.

BAIYU LI is an active clarinetist in both his home country and abroad. He graduated from Sichuan Conservatory of Music (China), where he spent seven years enhancing his technique in both collaborative and solo performing. He earned third prize in both the First Hong Kong International Clarinet Competition and the Urbel Clarinet Competition. He has served as a clarinet instructor to approximately 30 students in primary and middle school institution. Baiyu Li was a member of the Campus Student Philharmonic Orchestra (2010). He was invited by Korea Sangmyung
