About the Conductors

CAROLINE AYLWARD is pursuing a master's degree in wind band conducting at the University of Arizona Fred Fox School of Music. Ms. Aylward serves as a graduate conductor and assists with the Pride of Arizona Marching Band, UA Pep Band, UA Wind Ensemble, UA Wind Symphony, and co-directs the UA Symphonic Band. Ms. Aylward earned her bachelor's degree in music education from the University of Delaware in 2016. She taught elementary and middle school band for five years in the Maryland and Washington, D.C. areas. Her bands received Superior and Excellent ratings at the Archdiocese of Washington Music Festivals. In 2016, Ms. Aylward published and presented research at the National Conference on Undergraduate Research for her paper entitled "The Impact of Image: The Iconographic Celebrity of the Musician." She has also been a participant at the University of Massachusetts Conducting Symposium and the University of Arizona Conducting Workshop. Ms. Aylward regularly performed with and appeared as a guest conductor for the Maryland Band Directors Band. In her spare time, Caroline enjoys running, rock climbing, and Dungeon Mastering for her friends' Dungeons & Dragons campaign.

DENNIS SENKBEIL is currently pursuing a DMA in wind band conducting at the University of Arizona. His duties include serving as a graduate conductor and assisting with the Pride of Arizona Marching Band, Pep Band, Wind Ensemble, Wind Symphony, and co-directing Symphonic Band. Mr. Senkbeil moved to Southern Arizona in 2012 after earning his bachelor's degree in music education at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. He taught middle and high school band for four years before working as a graduate assistant at the University of Arizona while pursuing a master's degree in music education, which he graduated with in 2018. Passionate about music education, Mr. Senkbeil continues to seek opportunities to strengthen his knowledge and experiences while defending the importance of music in the school system. Mr. Senkbeil is blessed to be married to his wife, Casey, and has been enjoying his most recent title of father to their daughter Madeline.
