If you have a passion for music – whether it is a newly-found interest or something you have been involved in throughout your life – the Music minor could be a great fit for you. Courses from different areas of music can be combined into a unique program of study – one that can be tailored to work alongside your major coursework. If your cumulative UA GPA is 2.0 or higher, you may contact a Music advisor to declare the minor officially.

The requirements for the Music minor include:

- MUS 119 Introduction to Music Theory
You may take this 3-unit class first, last, or whenever it fits your schedule. This course is offered regularly and is taught most Fall, Spring, and some Summer, terms.
- 15 additional elective Music units
Any MUS (Music) courses may be used in your Music minor. Additionally courses cross-listed or co-taught with Music may be included.
- Ensure that at least 9 units are upper-division
A minimum of 9 of your 18 Music units must be upper-division (300/400 level). Many popular electives are upper-division – and so meeting this requirement is usually easy to achieve. Connect with your academic advisor to ensure you are on track.

Additional helpful information:

- Prerequisites: Some MUS courses may be sequential or have prerequisite requirements. These are shown in the Class Search at your UAccess Student Center. If you have questions about enrolling in one of these courses, you are welcome to contact the listed instructor or to connect with an academic advisor.
- Advising: We recommend that you check in with your Music minor advisor briefly every semester or whenever questions arise. You should also plan to check in with an advisor, and consult the PDF version of your UAccess Advisement Report, prior to registering for your final semester, to ensure that your minor will be completed with your chosen coursework.

If the Music courses you take in your minor inspire you to do more – whether by switching to Music as your primary major or by adding a second degree or major – then great! Every unit taken towards a Music minor may be applied to the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree in Music. This is an interdisciplinary online program that can be tailored to connect your musical interests with your other passions and study in related or unrelated fields. The Music major may require as few as 30 additional units beyond the Music minor. Connect with your Music advisor with questions, and to declare the major.
